

SUMMER SCHOOL

TORINO
2-13 JULY 2018

ENGAGING CONFLICT

PREVENTION, MANAGEMENT AND RESOLUTION

The ENGAGING CONFLICT SUMMER SCHOOL is designed to equip committed students, early-career researchers and professionals with advanced tools to critically understand conflict and tackle it as a dynamic reality.

ENGAGING CONFLICT's faculty draws from a unique spectrum of expertise to train a select group of participants in assessing the complexity of conflict and post-conflict scenarios, and evaluating the relevance and impact of different policy choices or normative standings, from non-intervention to conflict prevention.

The ENGAGING CONFLICT SUMMER SCHOOL addresses three core questions:

What is conflict?

How does conflict work?

How can we influence conflict?

The program is structured around two intensive weeks. Activities include lectures, workshops, seminars and roleplays. In addition, specifically designed thematic conversations will offer participants the opportunity to interact with scholars and practitioners alike in an informal environment, enhancing the overall experience.

2018 ENGAGING CONFLICT Faculty

Mats Berdal (King's College London)

Christopher Coker (London School of Economics)

Juan Diaz-Prinz (Conflict Management Space)

Elise Féron (University of Tampere)

Roger Mac Ginty (University of Manchester)

Gearoid Millar (University of Aberdeen)

Alpaslan Özerdem (Coventry University)

with the participation of the Italian Army, the SIPRI and the UN System Staff College.

www.engagingconflict.it

engaging.conflict@twai.it